Dutch Hacking Health is a national initiative, that organizes healthcare hackathons at various locations in The Netherlands. In a single weekend over 500 technicians, designers, entrepreneurs, caregivers and patients come together to solve real world problems. These are healthcare challenges in the broadest sense of the word, from medical products to social care services. The unique aspect about Hacking Health in Rotterdam is that students can also become participants. This way the multidisciplinary teams, will face the challenges with a fresh perspective.

WHAT WE DO

3-DAY HEALTHCARE HACKATON

As an organization, we are looking for medical companies, healthcare institutions, patient organizations and design agencies that face a healthcare challenge in their daily practice. We turn this challenge into a case, on which 5 to 10 participants will work together with you to find a solution in 3 days. At the end of the weekend there will be a useful concept, which can be further developed into a realistic product or service together with the participants.
